DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

The indicated allowability of claim 25 (the language of which was incorporated into claim 17 in the amendment filed 07/06/2007) is withdrawn in view of the realization by the Examiner that the previously cited reference, Bookwalter et al., in fact, does disclose a threaded shaft 58 as presented below. The Examiner regrets any inconvenience to Applicant or Applicant's representative.

Drawings

The drawings were received on 07/06/2007. These drawings are approved by the Examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 17-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bookwalter et al. (U.S. Patent Number 4,424,724), previously cited by examiner on 892, paper number 20060915.

Bookwalter et al. disclose a surgical retractor comprising a clamp, e.g. 20, having an opening with a slot, e.g. 120, having an upper and a lower surface, a latch, e.g. 80, is pivotally connected to the clamp (see column 4, lines 11-28) a spring, e.g. 100, biases the latch, a release button, e.g. 82, disengages the latch, an angularly adjustable leg, e.g. 22, is pivotally coupled to the clamp and can extend cantileveredly away from the clamp (see column 4, lines 60-68 and column 5, lines 1-5), wherein the leg has a retractor blade connector head mount and wherein the leg has a first projection and a second projection forming a U-shape (see figure 1), an operator, e.g. 44, having a threaded shaft 58 coupled to the clamp and the leg (see figures 1-4).

With regard to the statement of intended use and other functional statements, they do not impose any structural limitations on the claims distinguishable over Bookwater et al., which is capable of being used as claimed if one so desires to do so. In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). Furthermore, the law of anticipation does not require that the reference "teach" what the subject patent teaches, but rather it is only necessary that the claims under attack "read on" something in the reference. Kalman v. Kimberly Clark Corp., 218 USPQ 781 (CCPA 1983). Furthermore, the manner in which a device is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 26-28 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 30 and 31 are allowed.
